Torrance High Students Adopt Filipino Youth

A 9-year-old Filipino boy has nearly 1,800 parents this week.

The youngster, Benjamin B. Pallera, has been financially adopted by the Associated Student Body at Torrance High School. The adoption completed through the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park Ave., South, New York.

Torrance High students will supply some funds—about $8 cash each month and medical supplies and clothing, along with a most valuable commodity—love.

In exchange, the students will receive a letter from young Benjamin once each month.

Benjamin is one of seven children—he has six sisters who range in age from 19 down to 5. One sister is deaf, and another lives with an aunt. His father died of tuberculosis in 1961, and his mother, a landress, must support her family on an income of 28 1/2 cents per day.

The family lives in the village of Las Pinas, about an hour from Manila. There
